Grand Knight's Message

Dear Brother Knights and families,

A wonderful thing about our local council #971 is that we work together and support each other so well. Our council truly feels like a comfortable family which is evident at our meetings and socials. The supportive environment between the Knights was one of the original motivations for the founding of the order, and it continues to be a source of inspiration. Our council has a small group of active members, including several members. We hope to encourage others to join the Knights by being active in our community and local churches.

On a personal note, I have changed jobs and now work and live in Antioch, California. The distance between Antioch and Santa Cruz, unfortunately requires that I step down as Grand Knight. It has been a very pleasant and rewarding experience being Grand Knight. I really appreciated all of the great advice and support I received as Grand Knight. It made learning how to be a Grand Knight a whole lot easier.

Last Months Social was quite nice with plenty of delicious food and great fellowship. In this busy world it is nice to dine with friends. This months Social will also be another great opportunity to dine with old friends and make new ones.

Council #971 will be helping out at Lady Star of the Sea on Sunday the 13th at their Fair, buy manning the soft drink and bottled water table (12-5pm). The food is great at the Fair and I encourage you to come, if you can make it. The Fair is open from 12 noon to about 8pm but come and stay as long as you want. There is also entertainment and a lot of fun for the whole family.

Fraternally yours,
Herbert Schuchard
Grand Knight

Chaplain's Message

DEEP AND DEPTH

The Gospel According to St. Luke, Chapter 5 starts out with our Lord being pressed by the crowds around the Lake of Gennesaret in Galilee. He then asks Simon to row away from the shore a distance. He then sat down and began to teach the people from the boat. After preaching, he orders Simon to row afar and "cast your nets into the deep water and lower your nets for a catch." Simon Peter answers that they have fished all night and caught nothing, but at His order they will do it. They caught a large amount of fish, so that the boats of Simon and his partners were sinking. To understand Christ we must listen to what He says, take it in our mind, and then into the depths of the heart. Scriptures mention that Mary did this when, concerning the mysteries of Christ, she treasured all these things and reflected on them in her heart.

The sea of life is deep and we must reach its depths if we are to understand our lives and God's purposes for us. The superficiality of time must meet the profundity of eternity if we are to understand and appreciate the value of what we are, both time and timeless, surface and the deep. We are more than meets the eye, more than surface, more than image and the clothes that we wear. We are not only sons of our parents (time) but also sons of God (time and timeless). We must be able to see through the signs of the times to the depths of what things really are, for the heavens declare the glory of God, as does man. Faith makes us see beyond the here and now. Without the deep and depth of Christ we cast our nets into the deep of the sea and we catch nothing, for there is no depth. With Christ we cast our life nets into the deep of the sea and we catch an abundance of life. Let us not be like the insect skipper, which skims the waters of the pond as it moves. Let us dive into the deep and discover the depths.

Fr. James Catalano, OSJ

Supreme

With help in the form of $25,000 from the The Knights of Columbus, the Diocese of Multan in Southern Punjab, Pakistan, has helped thousands of flood victims - many of them women and children. In addition to food and medicine, the diocese under the direction of Bishop Andrew Francis has distributed cooking and eating utensils, helped care for those with Down Syndrome, and provided transportation to medical treatment for those in need. The help has been given to those in need without regard to their religion.

According to The New York Times the flooding in Pakistan affected more than 20 million residents of that country and covered about 20 percent of the country with water. About 1500 people are estimated to have lost their lives. Catholics make up less than 1 percent of the population of Pakistan, but have been excellent examples of charity, with Catholic organizations such as the Diocese of Multan helping whomever they can in this crisis.

Those who wish to support the work of the Diocese of Multan in this time of need can donate to the Pakistan Flood Fund of Knights of Columbus charities. Information can be found at kofc.org.

Fatima

Santa Cruz Council 971 sponsors the annual devotion to Our Lady of Fatima which runs from May to October. On October 13 at the Oblates of St Joseph at 7:00 p.m., there will be a rosary procession followed by Mass celebrated by Fr. John Wharburton. Refreshments will be served thereafter in the hall. This is the last Fatima event for this year.
